Lulu GLASER in "Love's Pilgrimage to America"

In "Love's Pilgrimage to America," a maid, a new Universal film, Lulu Glaser is seen as a stenographer who has noth-

Bob Leonard as a boob in "The Boob's Victory"

—Gold Seal—

With the possible exception of the serial feature, "The Master Key," there is probably no type of story which has made Robert Leonard's name so welcome on the Universal program as his intermittent series of "Boob" comedy dramas with himself in the role of "Boob." That is why exhibitors and film fans the country over will be keenly interested to learn that he has just completed another of these two-reel subjects, this time the story of an amateur detective who scores a scoop on the real article sent out from the city on the trail of a gang of bandits.

"The Boob's Victory" is the title of the tale and in it Leonard plays the role of the corn-fed country boy whose interest is always divided between the work he is hired to do and the studying of a little hand-book on the subject, "How to Become a Detective." During the two reels comedy situations alternate with dramatic crises in a way that lends strength to both. This is the first of Leonard's productions since returning from Arrowhead and in it Ella Hall plays opposite Leonard with Marc Robbins and Kingsley Benedict comprising the supporting cast.

William S. Hart, whose virile acting has won him millions of followers throughout the world, will be seen for the third time as the star of a Triangle Kay-Bee feature when he is presented by Thomas H. Ince in "Hell's Hinges," a western drama from the prolific pen of C. Gardner Sullivan.

The semi-annual engagement of Howe's Travel Festival is booked for matinee and night performances at the Robinson Grand tomorrow when an entirely new program will be presented comprising some amazing demonstrations of the untold possibilities of motion photography. Among them may be mentioned the very latest cinematographic process showing the movements of animals which ordinarily are so agile that they elude the eye. However, movements that are entirely too swift for the human eye to note in detail, are here reproduced eight times slower than normal. Another curiosity of fiction which is weirdly beautiful shows the crystallization of various metals, and also some acrobatic feats by denizens of the insect world—the scorpion and stag-beetle. The world of industry also contributes a film showing in a most comprehensive way every phase of making an automobile, at the immense plant of the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo.

SAN JOSE SCALEState's Fruit Trees Are Threatened with Ruin, Says Williams.CHARLESTON, Jan. 17.—Officials of the state department of agriculture are manifesting considerable interest in a movement on foot among orchardists of the Kannawha valley for a systematic and general spraying of fruit trees, shrubbery and lawn trees for the extermination of the San Jose scale during the remainder of the winter. Commissioner E. H. Williams, of the department, is authority for the statement that Charleston and the surrounding country is full of the pest.
In fact, he thinks the fruit trees of the entire Kanawha valley are threatened with ruin, particularly apple and pear trees. He is of the opinion that the community effort should be made in this direction by the owners of city lots having such trees on their premises, as well as by the farmers up and down the valley.Hence he welcomes the suggestion that somebody be encouraged to operate a portable spraying outfit in that vicinity this spring.If any good is to be done in the interest of next summer's fruit crop it will have to be done between now and the middle of April, and so concerned are the orchardists over the alarming spread of this destroying scale among the trees during the last few months that it is reasonably certain the interested persons will have such an outfit at work soon.

Showing At the GrandDustin Farnum Has Star Part in "The Gentleman from Indiana."No sweeter love story was ever put upon the screen than "The Gentleman from Indiana," the new Pallas Picture (Paramount) with Dustin Farnum in the stellar role. With dainty Winifred Kingston, the popular London favorite, playing opposite Mr. Farnum these two young peo-ple carry out the famous Booth Tarkington romance with a delicacy and charm that is positively idyllic. Their meeting, the thrilling moment when a bullet from a Whitecap in ambush carries away Farnum's hat, the old-fashioned love-making in the Judge Briscoe home, and finally the touching reunion long afterward beside the hand press in Farnum's Indiana county newspaper office, are too delightful for words. "The Gentleman from Indiana" is a sure treat for anybody who has lived in a county seat town and for city people who have never known the quiet thrill of a country square, presents one of the truest pictures of country town life ever presented upon stage or screen.
